Art and activity book

Many years ago – nearly as long ago as you can go – two people lived with God in a beautiful garden.

They were Adam and Eve and they were friends with God.

Decorate the garden with flowers, plants, and animals.

Spot the difference

Can you spot the five differences in these pictures?

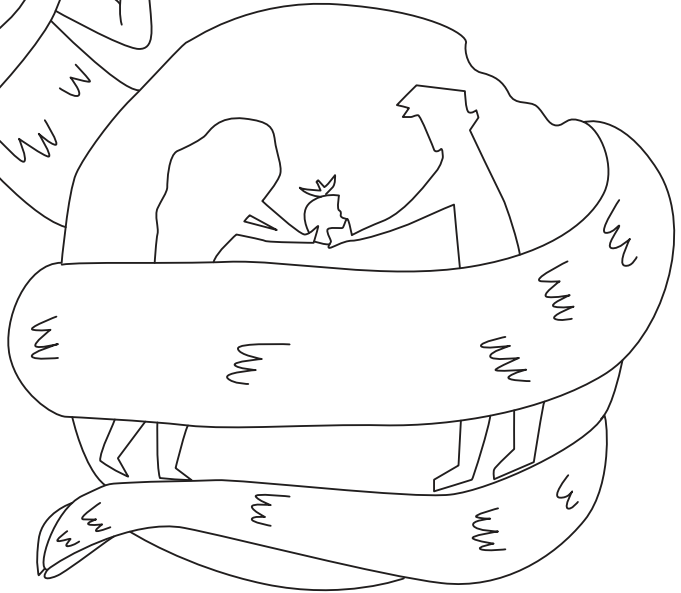

Adam and Eve could talk with God about every thought they had. They told him anything, anytime.

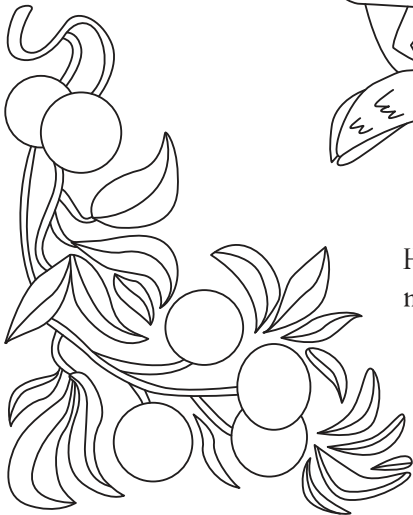

But one day, the devil
slithered into the garden
as a snake.

He suggested that God did not love Adam and Eve.

They chose not to trust and obey
God anymore. This is called sin.

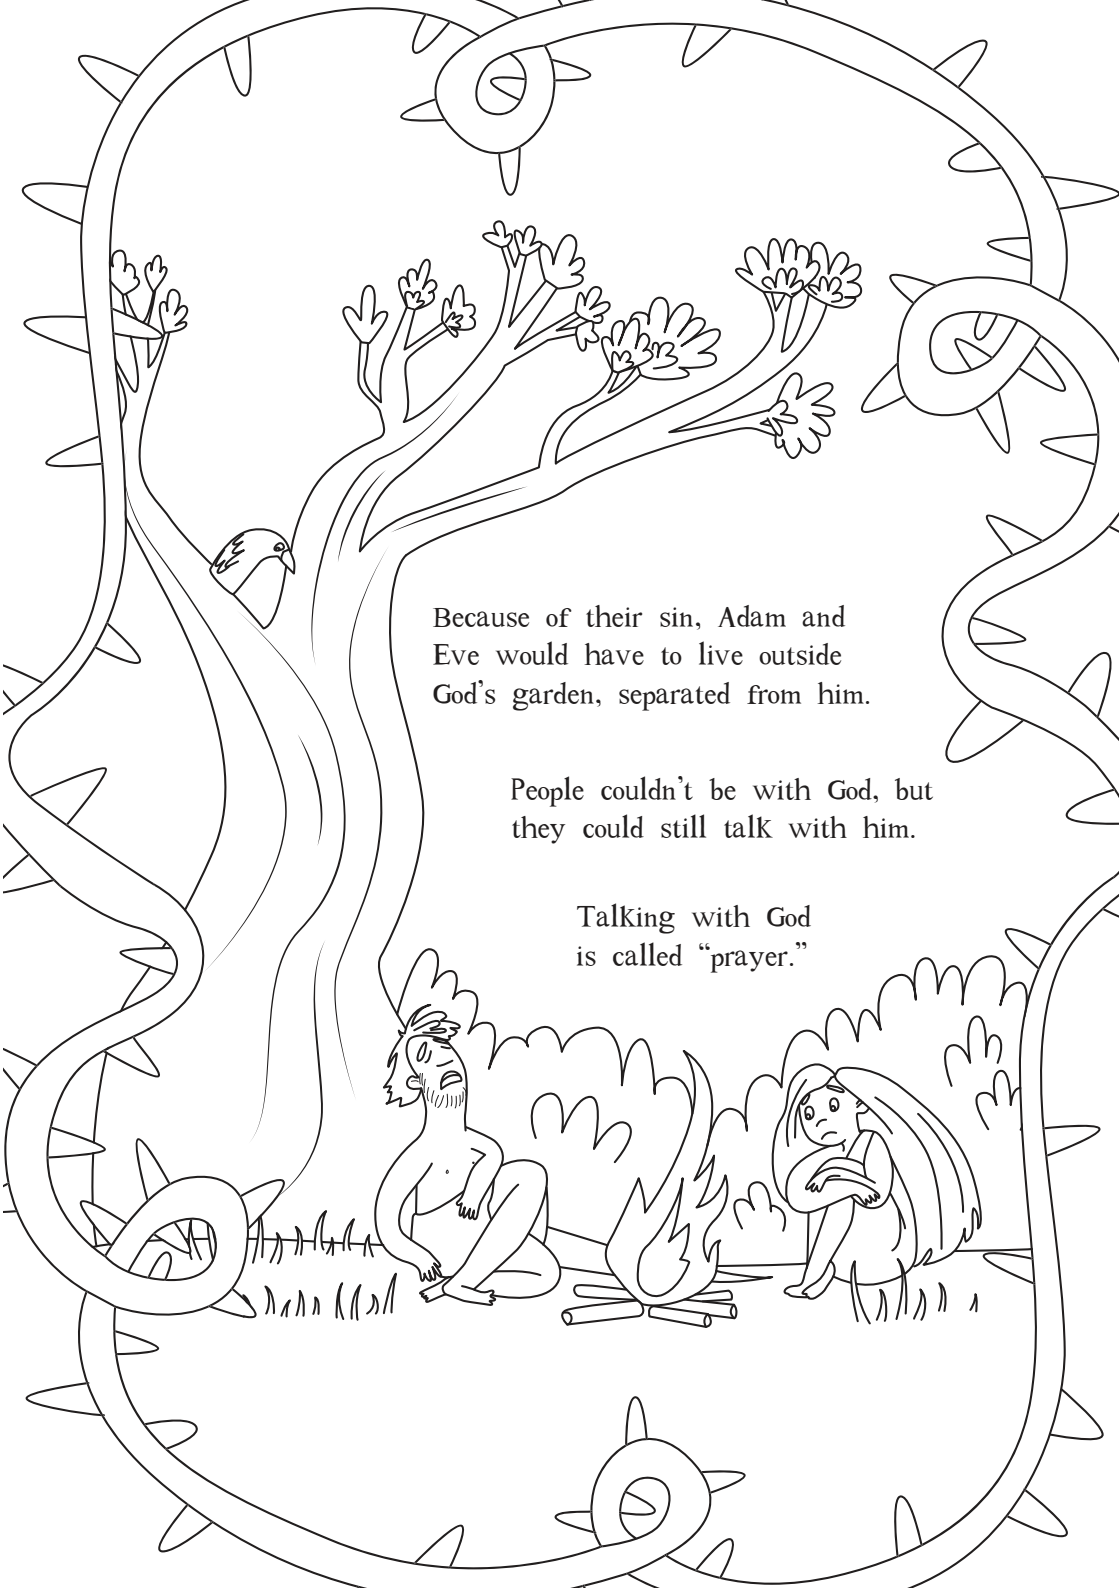

Maze

Now, Adam and Eve were afraid of God,
so they hid. But God found them.

Follow the maze to see where Adam is hiding
when God finds him.

Because of their sin, Adam and Eve would have to live outside
God's garden, separated from him.

People couldn't be with God, but they could still talk with him.

Talking with God
is called "prayer."

Sometimes people didn't know what to pray to God.
Sometimes they didn't want to.

Draw a picture
of something that you want to talk to God about, even if you're not sure what to say.

Buy the Book

This activity sheet is based on the book Any Time Any Place, part of the Tales That Tell the Truth Children's book series.

Every book in this series features beautiful illustrations and engaging story-telling that captures young imaginations but always remains faithful and true to the biblical text. Which means that adults will love these books as much as the kids they are reading to!

There's a series of board books, perfect for toddlers, or storybooks for children 3-6 which go deeper in to the richness of each story. There are also activity books (which this is a small part of) which are great for inspiring creativity as well as FREE lesson plans for a selection of books in the series which help parents teach the story to children.
