A long time ago there was a man named Peter
who was best friends with Jesus.

Peter was a fisherman.
He was strong and brave. But...

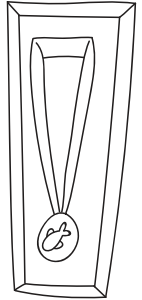

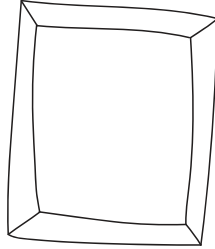

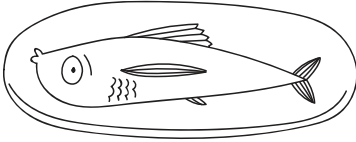

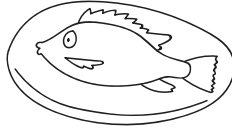

He often said the wrong thing.
Do you ever talk before you think?
That's what Peter did—
again, and again, and again.

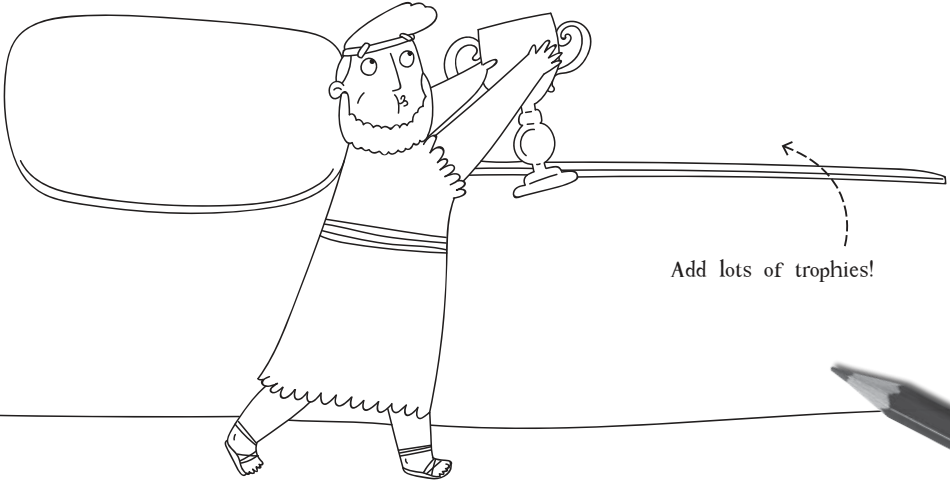

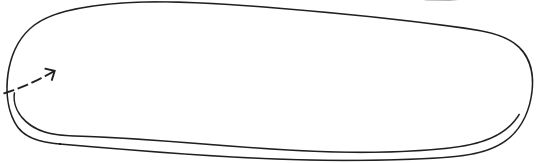

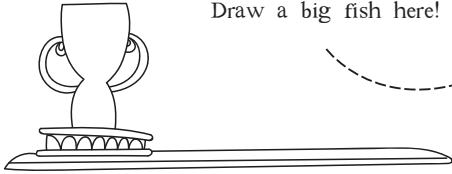

Trophies!

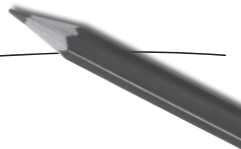

Can you draw some medals and trophies that Peter has won for fishing?

Draw a big fish here!

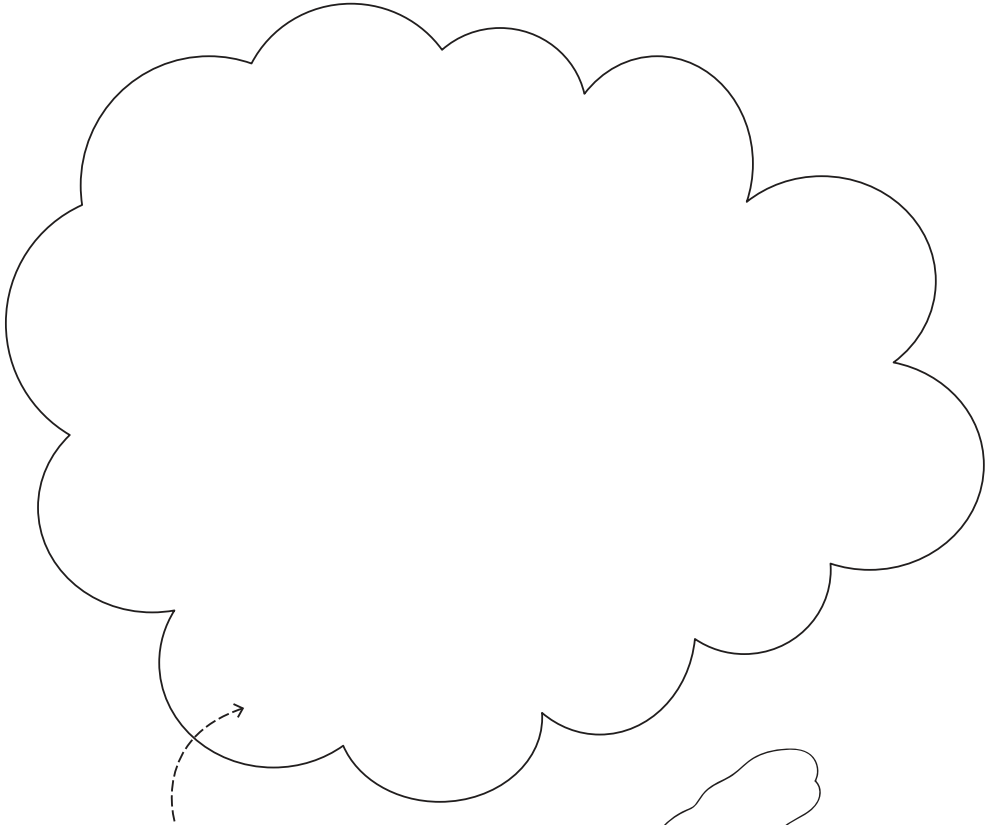

Add lots of trophies!

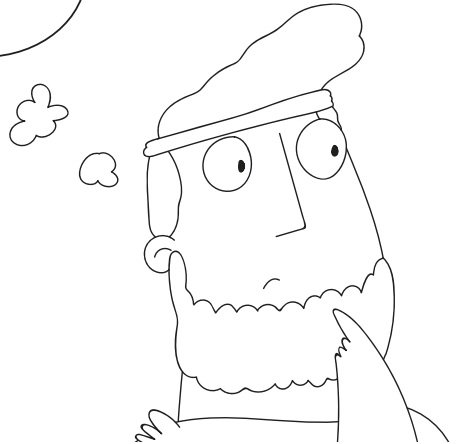

“Follow me, and I will make you a fisher of men,”
Jesus told him.

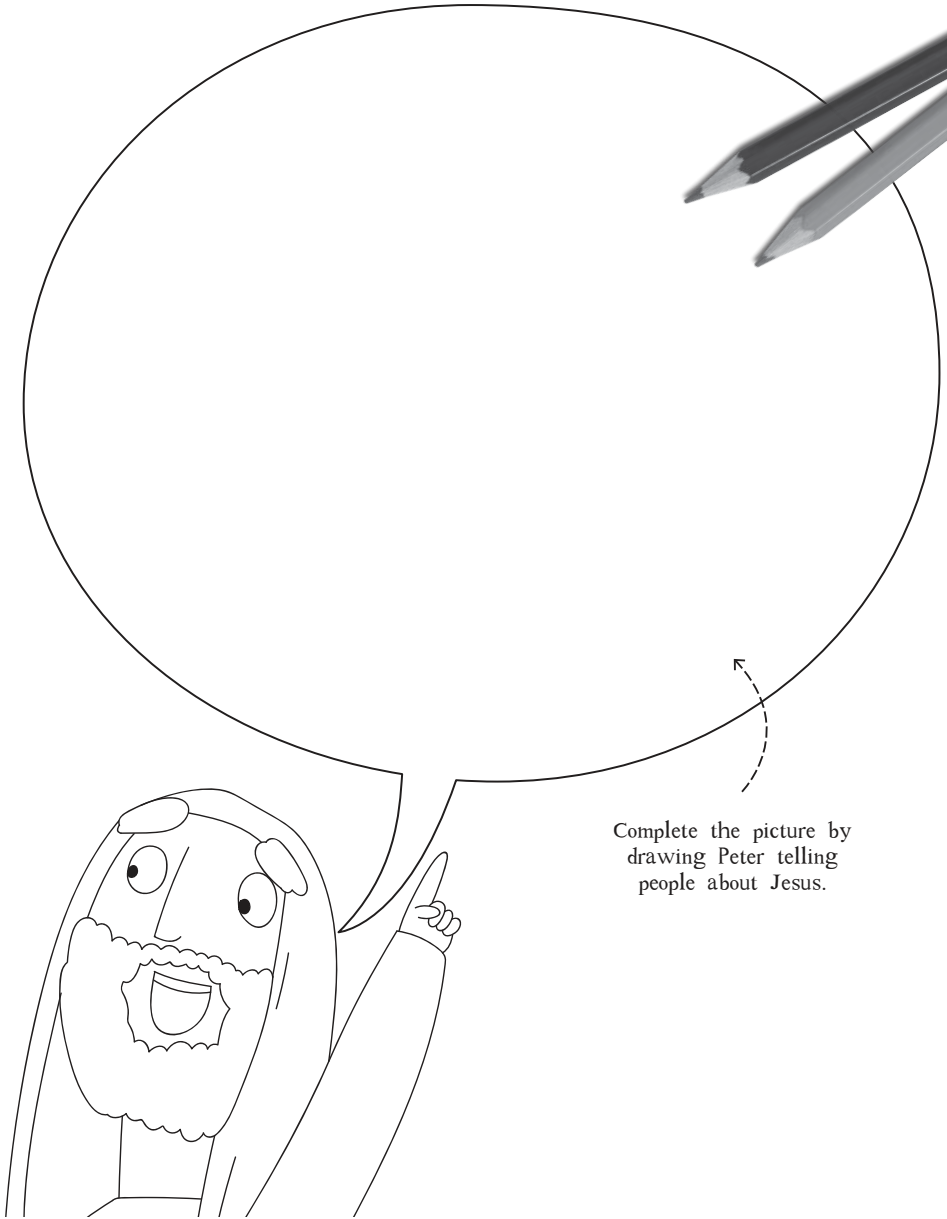

Can you imagine that? Peter fishing for men?

Complete the picture by drawing Peter catching people in a net!

Jesus explained that, just as Peter liked to search for fish, Jesus had come to search for people who needed forgiveness.

Complete the picture by drawing Peter telling people about Jesus.

This activity sheet is based on the book The Friend who Forgives, part of the Tales That Tell the Truth Children's book series.

Every book in this series features beautiful illustrations and engaging story-telling that captures young imaginations but always remains faithful and true to the biblical text. Which means that adults will love these books as much as the kids they are reading to!

There's a series of board books, perfect for toddlers, or storybooks for children 3-6 which go deeper in to the richness of each story. There are also activity books (which this is a small part of) which are great for inspiring creativity as well as FREE lesson plans for a selection of books in the series which help parents teach the story to children.
