Long, long ago there lived
an important man who worked for the King.

He was sad and
so, so worried.

His son was very ill...
and no one could help him.

But then he heard that a man named Jesus was doing the most amazing, wonderful things.

He heard that Jesus was making unwell people well again.

Finish the picture by drawing lots of amazing
things that Jesus did!

So the man decided to ask Jesus for help.

A long journey

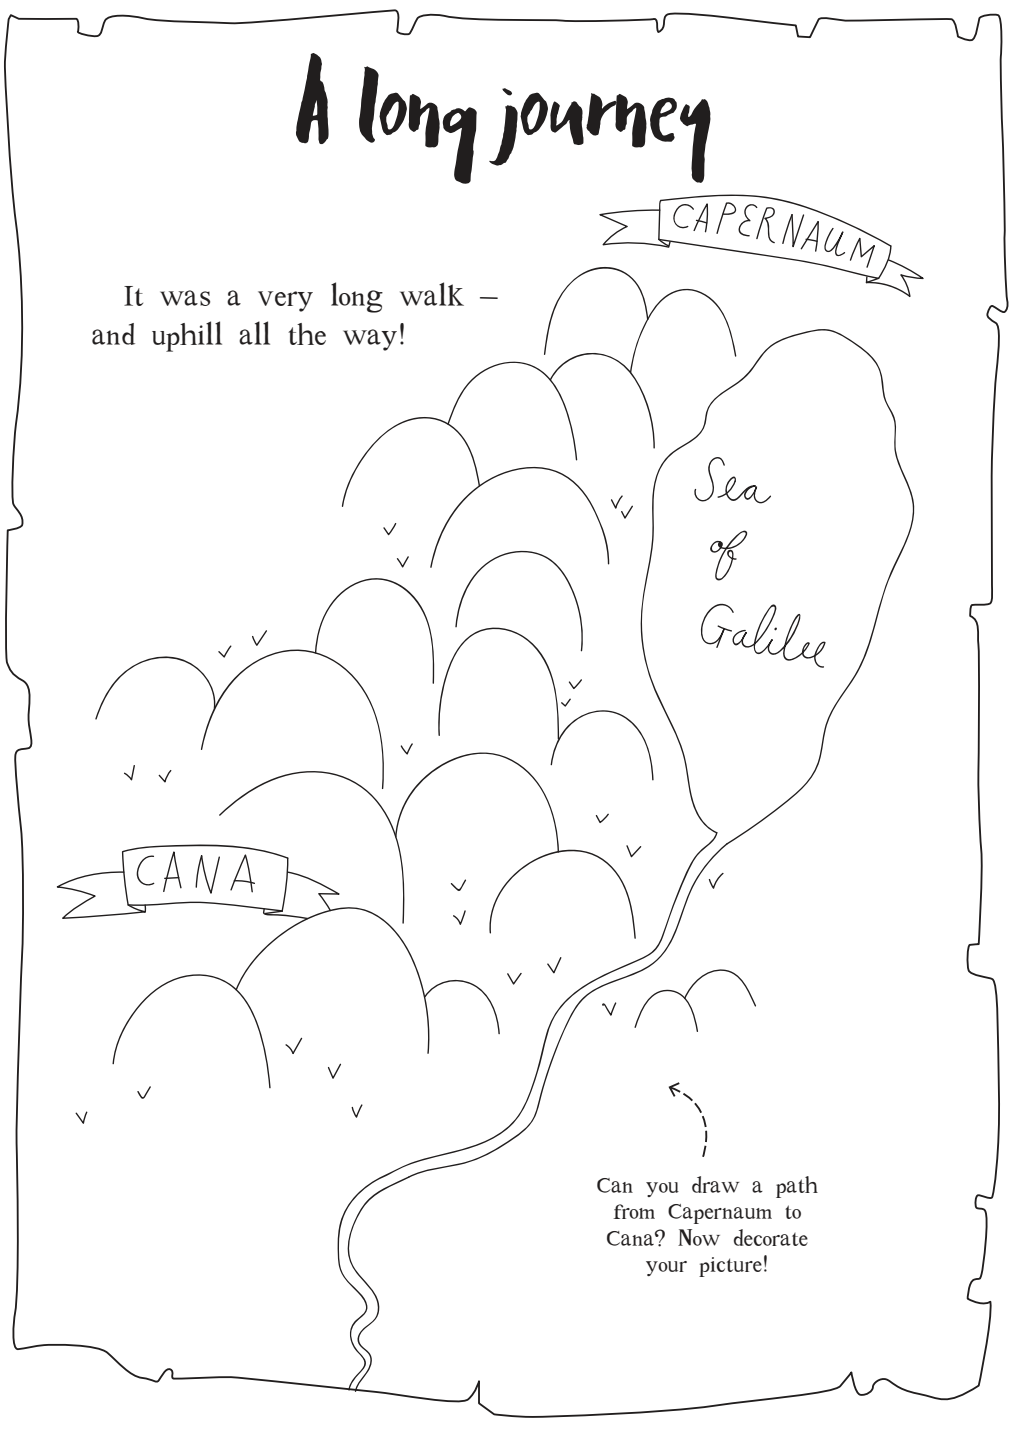

It was a very long walk –
and uphill all the way!

This activity sheet is based on the book The One O'Clock Miracle, part of the Tales That Tell the Truth Children's book series.

Every book in this series features beautiful illustrations and engaging story-telling that captures young imaginations but always remains faithful and true to the biblical text. Which means that adults will love these books as much as the kids they are reading to!

There's a series of board books, perfect for toddlers, or storybooks for children 3-6 which go deeper in to the richness of each story. There are also activity books (which this is a small part of) which are great for inspiring creativity as well as FREE lesson plans for a selection of books in the series which help parents teach the story to children.
